POSTSCRIPT

Disparities in Education

Six articles examine the impact of maternal education on childcare time; estimate the association between households' fuel collection and children's educational outcomes; assess teachers' in-group bias in grading; identify and explore the channels through which elite capture influences learning outcomes; analyse the consequences of exam cancellations; and engage with the role of students in discussions on academic freedom. pages 40-92

Privacy and Accountability

The Election Commission of India's use of the right to privacy to deny CCTV footage of polling and machine-readable electoral rolls presents a seeming conflict between the right to privacy and transparency. page 10

The Case for Anthrotherology

Understanding human-wildlife conflicts as a socially embedded fracture requires a new disciplinary approach that draws from sociology, economics, anthropology, ecology, and ethics. page 17

Higher Education in India

The malaise in higher education has worsened over the last decade with persistent political intrusion in universities, the straitjacketing of curriculum, and the throttling of academic freedom. page 33
