Current Regime of Accumulation

Monopolisation has received a fillip because emergent industries, such as platforms, are natural monopolies, where barriers to entry could easily be erected via information enclosures and the ownership of intellectual property rights. page 10

Case of Social Boycott in Karnataka

The institutionalisation of the exclusion of the Holeya community in Antharavalli, through caste panchayats, dual temples, and administrative apathy, is not merely a cultural problem but a constitutional crisis. page 24

Ladakh after Abrogation

The abrogation of Article 370 has triggered insecurity among the people of Ladakh regarding the outsiders being able to buy land and compete for jobs, and the preservation of Ladakhi culture. page 63

Data for Inequality Analysis

The NSS data should be used in combination with, or be replaced with, the World Inequality Database, which largely corrects the problem of under-/over-reporting using national income and tax data. page 47

Food Subsidies

The benefits of the current system of MSP, procurement, and PDS do not appear to accrue to farmers on the scale as intended.
